

City School Notes

Examinations for the first quarter are being held Thursday and Friday of this week.

The first number of the lyceum, The Hoosier Male Quartet, will appear Friday evening. This will doubtless be one of the strongest attractions of the season.

Misses Alcorn and Taylor of Watertown and Miss Webb of Cookeville will give an entertainment in the interest of the Ladies' Guild of the Presbyterian Church Saturday evening at City School Auditorium.

Master Jim Watts Moore of the 5th grade has been suffering from a broken arm, but we are glad to note he has sufficiently recovered to return to school.

On Monday evening, Dr. W. S. McClain delivered the first of a series of lectures, to be given under the auspices of the local Story Tellers' League. His subject was "Italian Painting of the 16th Century." Dr. McClain made a scholarly presentation of his subject. During the evening Mrs. Thomas, of the School of Music, delighted the audience with a few vocal selections.

STORY HOUR

A child was asked a few days ago, how she liked the "Story Hour." She unhesitatingly replied, "That's the best part of school."

Those who were present at the Story Hour last week agreed with the child at once. Mrs. Clara Cox Epperson was in charge last week on Friday afternoon, and read a beautiful collection of child's poems of her own, and being "her own" says everything that could be said of the simplicity and charm of the poems.

The Story Tellers' League, of which Mrs. Comer McDearman is president, boasts of having Mrs. Epperson's name on its roll of members and the school fully appreciated the rare pleasure of hearing Mrs. Epperson read her own poems.

The Story Hour is held every Friday at 1:30 o'clock.

BLOOMINGTON, ROUTE ONE

Health is not very good in this community. Harvey Presley and Gracy Long are very low with fever.

Sunday school is progressing nicely at Free Union. The school is also getting along fine.

Hello cousin Mary Drew, I saw your piece in the Herald, and was glad to hear from you.

Several of the young folks took dinner with Miss Lola Smith Sunday, it being her birthday. Adeline Rodgers

MEMPHIS-TO-BRISTOL HIGHWAY INSPECTION TOUR

The first official inspection of the Memphis-to-Bristol Highway will be made during the week of November 8th, the start being made from Nashville on Monday morning.

When the Commission for the eastern section of the state highway rendered its decision as to the location it was emphasized that in the event the counties securing the location of the highway failed to construct their link, that the Commission would make an inspection and would re-locate the highway if after an inspection this was thought advisable.

The purpose of the official inspection is to ascertain, at first hand, what progress has been made, and whether, in the wisdom of the Commission, a change in the route is necessary. Several meetings will be held by the Commission during the week, and different phases of the project will be considered.

The official inspection party will be made up of the following gentlemen: James Palmer, President, M-to-B Commission, Nashville; Chas. C. Gilbert, Secretary, M-to-B Commission, Nashville; Geo. W. Cline, Crossville; Jere Whitson, Cookeville; J. M. Taylor, Cave; W. F. Carter, Johnson City; Dr. A. E. Foster, Lees Springs; Arthur Crowover, chairman State Highway Department; J. J. Murray, Secretary, State Highway Department.

The party is scheduled to arrive in Cookeville next Monday at 12:30 o'clock, leaving for Crossville at 2 o'clock.

A FAMILY REUNION

A family reunion took place at the home of Uncle George Henry and wife Aunt Rachel, on last Sunday, Oct. 31. There was a great host of friends and relatives present, among whom were Jasper Henry, James Miller, W. M. Henry and wife, A. Stamps and wife of Cookeville, Route 5, Andy Jones of near Shady Grove, Rev. Frank Henry of Calkiller, T. W. Officer and wife and many others too numerous to mention.

Uncle George and Aunt Rachel have reared a family of eleven children, eight boys and three girls, the youngest of whom is 28 years old. They were all present on this occasion. It was a great sociable occasion, the pleasant conversations and hearty handshakes were enjoyed by all present. A most delightful dinner was served and after dinner was over with the congregation.

Order by W. M. Henry and the crowd assembled on and in front of the porch. Jim T. Henry, with his organ and singing class from Rocky Point rendered the song service, and oh, such a beautiful song service led by W. M. Henry. No wonder the song service was beautiful when we come to think about four singing masters, being in the family and most all of the relatives singers. A very touching prayer was offered by their son, Rev. Elisha Henry.

Some very interesting talks were made by W. M. Henry, Rev. Elisha Henry, Rev. G. F. Henry, and Jim T. Henry. W. M. Henry closed the service by calling a handshake and a general revival of religion followed.

T. W. Officer and A. P. Roberson counted the congregation and reported that there were 120 relatives and 65 others, making a total of 185 present.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. G. F. Henry and the congregation went to their homes feeling greatly benefited.

Gracie Clouse, Mand Randolph, Com.

DOUBLE SPRINGS

Gathering corn seems to be the go in this part. Miss Josie Ramsey spent Saturday night with Ophie Ramsey. Russell Lee and family of Dotson Branch took dinner with Wee-ley Gentry and family Sunday.

Willie Ramsey and wife and Mrs. Maria Higginbotham went to Cookeville shopping one day last week.

Hello, Eliza Watts, have your sheep quit squeaking yet? Wonder why Toy Ramsey was going so fast Sunday? Hello, Alma S., why don't you write to the Herald? Come on, Cookeville Route 9, with your letters as they are fine. Wonder if Josie R. and Ophie R. still like molasses candy? Hello, Avo Webb, of Cookeville, why don't you write to me? Say, Edith Welch, of Cookeville, Route 4, you must send me a look of your air before you go to Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rippeteo of Route 4, visited Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong Higginbotham Sunday.

I will close by asking for a shower of birthday cards for my friend, Ophie Ramsey, Nov. 22. She will be 17 years old. Her address is Double Springs, Tenn. Jolly Dixie.

For regular action of the bowels; easy and natural movements, relief of constipation, try Doan's Regulets, 25c at all stores.

ALGOOD ITEMS

Mr. Kilgore of near Lee Seminary, was here last Saturday.

The little child of Porter Masters has been quite ill for the past week.

J. H. Loftis has purchased stock in the Farmers' Mercantile Co., and is the general manager. Dow Patton, who has been the manager, retires from the business. Elijah Phillips will be the assistant to Mr. Loftis.

Several of our citizens attended the road working between Cookeville and Double Springs Tuesday.

Congressman McKellar spoke here Tuesday afternoon. This was a picked up date. The school auditorium was used for the speaking and a good crowd was present.

William Sacrey was operated on for appendicitis Monday at the office of Dr. W. A. Howard. Drs. Caldwell of Nashville, and Moore and Howard performed the operation.

Herbert Cross has accepted a position with the Algood Column Co. He was formerly employed by Clark Bros.

Miss Lillian Story, of Nashville, was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Winton Matheny, last week.

Rev. Drew McCaulley has returned from Lebanon, where he has been attending Cumberland University.

Will Wright has purchased the property of George Shirley in North Algood and moved into his new possessions.

Mrs. Tom Shirley has been seriously ill for several weeks past, and is at present convalescing.

Messrs. Tom Copeland of Livingston and Carl Wright of near Mount Pisgah, were in Algood Tuesday on their way to Lebanon to attend the meeting of the district stewards of the M. E. Church, South.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Speck of near Rickman were the guests of Algood relatives Sunday.

John Story of Nashville, was in our town recently. Mr. Story is the general superintendent of the T. C. Ry.

Mrs. J. T. Moore was the guest of Maury county friends last Sunday and part of last week.

Master Penneck and Margaret Moore were visiting relatives in Nashville over Sunday.

Mr. Adkins, after a month's vacation, is at his post of duty as conductor on the Tennessee, Kentucky & Northern Ry.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton have moved to Emory Gap, where he has accepted a position.

I. D. Pedigo has been off the road for several days, taking his vacation. He is the representative in this territory for the Harvey Oil Co., of Cleveland, Ohio.

Dr. White, veterinary surgeon, of Nashville, was here last Friday filling a professional date.

Harvey Draper spent last week in Philadelphia, Penna., on business for the Algood Column Co.

Harvey McCulley of near Lee Seminary was a visitor in Algood last Saturday.

Rev. and Mrs. Byrd Taylor of Westmoreland, were here last week on their way to visit relatives near Rickman.

The young people enjoyed a "Halloween Party" at the home of Mr. Harvey Draper last Saturday night. Most all of the accustomed Halloween lore was indulged in until a late hour.

About twenty-five young ladies robed in the regulation sheets and pillow cases paraded the streets to the delight of the children watching for them. To some of the older people it reminded them of the days of re-construction, when the "Ku-Klux-Klan" was in full swing, filling a mission, perhaps, that nothing else could have so successfully filled at that day and under the circumstances.

Refreshments were served during the evening and it was a delightful occasion for all present. The decorations were "Pumpkin Hobgoblins" who grinned out their rather ghostly welcome to the large crowd of merry-makers.

The "Sisk Gospel Team," of Cookeville, held services at the Methodist church last Sunday morning. Prof. Sisk delivered a strong sermon and the quartette sang to the delight and edification of a very large audience.

This is indeed a "Gospel team," and they are preaching and singing the old, old story in all of its majesty and glory to all who have the privilege of hearing them. This was Prof. Sisk's first sermon in Algood and a very profound impression was created. The quartet had been here before and with the addition of a preacher they are making more and wider their avenues of service for the Master. They have a standing invitation to come again at any time.

Miss Margaret Rickman is visiting friends in Georgia.

John Epperson has been indisposed for several days.

Frank Caruthers, of near Rickman, was a visitor in Algood Saturday.

Rev. F. B. Cox attended the district stewards' meeting of the Lebanon district, at Lebanon Tuesday.

Adrian Daniels has moved back to Algood. He has been living at Lebanon, employed on the T. C. Ry.

There is a move on foot to improve the old Prospect Presbyterian church. The material is now on the ground and there will be a "working" in a short time to make this old and near a suitable place for worship again.

This church is situated two miles north of Algood, and in the days gone by there were great meetings held there and many souls have found their redee-er within its sacred walls.

There was a pounding, not just a pounding on the door of the Methodist parsonage, but a sure "rough old fashioned Methodist" "pounding," at the parsonage last Friday night. The preacher and his family were made glad and those attending enjoyed the occasion very much. All denominations represented in Algood were represented by the donors. This is an old custom among the Methodists, as well as others, and certainly shows a spirit of appreciation and friendliness that is hard to manifest in any other way.

The pastor of the Methodist church will preach at Shipley Sunday morning.

Luther Thompson and family have moved from East Algood to the property of Mr. Norris near the spoke factory.

Attorneys Algood and Clouse, of Cookeville, were here Monday conducting a damage suit of James Warren vs. the T. C. Ry. Company.

Mrs. Jennie Warren of Watertown, was the guest recently of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Wiggins.

Mrs. Abe Speck has been on the sick list for the past week.

Nate Cooper has moved from his place one mile south of town into the property of Fred Moore for the present.

Marlin Barnes, who recently sold his farm, situated four miles north of Algood, has moved to Mr. Cooper's property.

John Shirley has moved to Mr. Watson's farm, one mile west of town.

George Shirley has purchased the property of Mr. Brown, near West Chapel, and moved last week.

Mr. Crawford of Cookeville has moved in the property of Mr. Watson, west of town.

Rev. Pount Smith will preach at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and evening.

An escaped prisoner, of the colored race caused quite a commotion in our community for several days last week. He was finally captured, but only after a great deal of detective work had been indulged in by the heroic officers and others who had been deputized for this official duty. But it was left to Messrs. Hubert Cornwell and Moses Cruise to finally consummate the chase by using a bit of strategy in closing in on the culprit, and he was returned to East Tennessee from where he had escaped.

Mrs. Harvey Draper and little Jacob, Mildred, were the guests of Cookeville relatives last week.

Sid Hutson was in Livingston last week on insurance business.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson returned Monday from a pleasure visit with relatives in Texas.

Prof. Lee Livsey, who is teaching at Dry Valley, was here last Friday on his way home to attend the Sunday school convention at Forrest Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Clark, Miss Lizzie Epperson and Mrs. Lee Epperson were the guests over last Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Powell, near Sparta.

Anna Lena is the name of the newly arrived daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Poteet.

Drew Cornwell, who is on the road for a Nashville wholesale house, was at home last week.

Rev. B. J. Rochelle, of Celina, was here last Saturday on his way from Nashville, where he had been for the past two weeks at St. Thomas' Hospital, recovering from an operation.

Mrs. J. M. Horn of Bighville, Maury county, was a visitor in Algood last week.

Mr. Loftis and family of Netherland have moved to Algood. They are occupying the property of Mr. Lee Epperson in North Algood. Mr. Loftis formerly lived in Livingston, where he was engaged in business.
